You'll see why this is a favorite spot among local families seeking a calm alternative to the nearby ocean beaches.

You will continue with a slight ascent up a small ridge, arriving at the white sands of the sleepy village of Pedrogão. Take a refreshing swim in the Atlantic if you wish. Then, turn slightly inland to parallel the coast, passing the town of Vieira and its namesake beach. Later, arrive in the resort of São Pedro Moel, a graceful village tucked above the surf and sand in a protective cove. Pass its landmark Penedo da Saudade lighthouse, built on the rocky promontory where a 17th-century widowed Duchess is said to have mourned her husband. After settling into your hotel, take a scenic stroll along the boardwalks atop the dramatic cliffs, the ideal place to observe a stunning sunset over the Atlantic. Choose from a half-dozen or more restaurants within a short walk of your hotel, or take advantage of the ocean view from your hotel's dining room.

Today's Ride Choices

Monte Real to São Pedro Moel — 43 km (26 miles)

What to Expect:

Today's route descends from Monte Real on paved roads through farmland, then climbs up a small ridge before reaching the Atlantic coast. At the ocean, take a left and head south, paralleling the coast along a paved bike lane through the town of Praia de Vieira. Just before reaching your evening's destination and hotel in the small town of São Pedro Moel, you will ride past the Penedo da Saudade lighthouse.

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 3: São Pedro Moel to Alcobaça / Move on Day

You will depart São Pedro Moel's cobbled streets and join a dedicated bike route through fragrant pine forests paralleling the coastline. Sections of this historic Atlantic pine forest were planted in the 13th century by King Afonso III to stop the erosion of the dunes. Later, during the Age of Discovery, they supplied the timber for Portugal's fleet of intrepid explorers as they sailed to distant shores.

Your route brings you to the town of Nazaré, renowned for its long crescent beach and resort atmosphere, and celebrated as the place where surfer Garrett McNamara rode the record-breaking 100-foot (30-meter) wave at North Beach. You're sure to find a spot for lunch here. Freshly caught seafood is always on the menu.

Continue cycling past the marina, and turn inland to follow the Alcobaça River on a dedicated bike lane. Then gently ascend to the small city of Alcobaça, centered around the 13th-century Cistercian monastery, one of the country's most magnificent Gothic structures. It was originally built to commemorate the taking of Santarém from the Moors in 1147 and today holds the tomb of King Pedro I. Architecturally, it represents the first example of its style, with its unique portal and rose window.

Conclude your ride here and take all the time you'd like to wander this UNESCO World Heritage site and enjoy the inner pool, as your hotel is well integrated into this monastery.

The dinner is on your own, and the best town's restaurants are just in front of your hotel.

Today's Ride Choices

São Pedro Moel to Alcobaça — 40 km (25 miles)

What to Expect:

The route departs the town of São Pedro Moel on a short section of cobbled street and immediately follows a paved, dedicated bike lane that alternates between pine forests and the coast with ocean views. In the busier town of Nazaré, use caution on the steep descent through narrow streets and along the beach-front bike lane (you will ride on sidewalk for a few hundred meters). After leaving town, you will turn inland along a flat paved road and join the riverside bike lane and country roads, ascending gradually to the town of Alcobaça.

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 4: Alcobaça to São Martinho do Porto / Move on Day

Start the day at your own pace, revisiting the monastery or just enjoying a late-morning coffee or early lunch, and grabbing some snacks for the road. Any time of day is perfect for the delicious pastel de nata, the Portuguese custard-tart pastry dusted with cinnamon.

Then cycle into the agricultural fields that slope to the coast, following a bike route to the seaside town of São Martinho do Porto. Founded by monks in the 13th century, it was a favorite seaside resort of Portuguese nobility in the 19th century. Its unique, protected, scallop-shaped bay of fine sand is bordered on its southern side by one of Europe's largest dunes at the far end. The red sandstone Salir do Porto soars to 160 feet (49 meters).

Here, a two-night stay allows for a beachside rest day or a choice of two optional rides. Dinner is on your own, and the seaside town's restaurants are just a short walk away.

Today's Ride Choices

Alcobaça to São Martinho do Porto — 28 km (17 miles)

What to Expect:

Descend gradually from Alcobaça to the river valley, then join a dedicated bike route to the Atlantic coast and the beach resort town of São Martinho do Porto. Follow town streets and bike lanes to the scallop-shaped beach and your hotel for the next two nights.

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 5: São Martinho do Porto / Stay Put Day

Your Stay Put Day is full of possibilities! If you can't get enough of cycling, you can choose to ride one of two loops. The short option loops inland from São Martinho do Porto to the outskirts of the town of Caldas da Raina. The longer option, back to Nazaré, returns on a ridge high above the Atlantic with stunning views.

Instead, you might enjoy São Martinho do Porto's unique, scallop-shaped, protected beach. Your hotel's staff can suggest a rental outfit where you can set out on a kayak, canoe, sailboat, paddleboard, paddle boat, or windsurfer. Relax in the calm waters of the lagoon, enjoying lunch at a seaside café, or simply relax on the beach. The day is yours to do as you please. In the evening, seek out a nearby restaurant.

Today's Ride Choices

São Martinho do Porto to Caldas da Raina Loop – 35 km (22 miles) | São Martinho do Porto to Nazaré Loop (Long Option) – 36 km (22 miles)

What to Expect:

São Martinho do Porto to Caldas da Raina Loop:

Cycle southeast through farmland. At about kilometer 14 (mile 9), you encounter the first of two ascents on the outskirts of Caldas da Raina. Then at about 23 kilometers (14 miles), you start a long gradual descent of over 15 kilometers (10 miles) back to the bay of São Martinho do Porto.

São Martinho do Porto to Nazaré Loop (Long Option):

On this longer optional loop, cycle northeast through flat or gently rolling farmland from São Martinho do Porto. The ride returns back to the surf mecca of Nazaré. On the return ride, you'll stay close to the coast after leaving Nazaré, which means a steep climb of about 2 kilometers (between kilometer 26.3 and 30) to a beautiful ridgeline with little traffic and then a fun descent to São Martinho do Porto.

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 6: São Martinho do Porto to Óbidos / Move on Day

Enjoy today's leisurely ride to Óbidos, one of Portugal's best-preserved medieval walled towns. You will ride out of São Martinho do Porto, following the Atlantic coast south into the beach and town of Foz do Arelho, then wind inland through a mixture of small farms, villages, and pear orchards.

This cultural and historic gem of Óbidos is so beautiful that King Dinis offered it as a wedding gift to Queen Isabel in 1282. Future kings followed suit—for 600 years!—and the hilltop town has since become known as the Casa das Rainhas, the House of Queens. Whether or not you are royalty, you're likely to fall in love with the whitewashed houses, bougainvillea vines, and crenellated walls. It is a fitting end to your self-guided bike tour of Portugal.

The charming pedestrian center invites endless exploration. Narrow cobblestone streets lead to leafy, shaded squares, rising gradually to the town's highest point—the 15th-century castle. If you'd like, you can walk along the top of some of the city walls and enjoy breathtaking views of the town's red roofs and surrounding countryside—although not recommended if you dislike heights! Staying in Óbidos overnight is a real treat. After the day trippers have left, a hush falls over the cobblestones as street lamps illuminate the town in a magical glow. Step out into this mesmerizing atmosphere to enjoy a celebratory evening and dinner.
