DAY 4: Ride to Chambord / Marvel at Château de Chambord

After breakfast, cycle directly from the hotel, riding on a mix of quieter roads and bike paths to Chambord, home of the remarkable Château de Chambord. The largest castle in the Loire Valley, its 440 rooms were never intended for permanent residents. The castle was designed as a seasonal hunting lodge and as a venue for hosting large receptions for King Francois I. The monarch built the château from 1519-1547 while living in royal residences in Blois and Amboise. The 21-mile-long garden wall is the longest wall in France. Of particular interest are the castle's double-helix staircases, which allow two people to travel up and down without crossing one another's path. Step back in time during a self-guided visit here.

In the afternoon, shuttle back to your hotel or ride back along a different route. You have the rest of the day to spend as you wish, exploring the town and the 17th-century castle of Cour-Cheverny or relaxing in the hotel's garden and grounds. Before dinner, learn about some of the wines of the area and sample some during a tasting. Dinner is included tonight at a local restaurant.

DAY 6: Chenonceaux

After breakfast, pedal along a scenic route to the Château de Chenonceau on the Cher River, known as the most romantic of the Loire châteaux. Its history is the stuff of epic novels: King Henry II gave the château as a gift to his beautiful lover, Diane de Poitiers. She built the first gardens and added a bridge to connect the château to the Cher's south bank. After Henry's death, his jealous wife, Catherine de Medici, took the château from Diane and built the unique gallery that today straddles the river. It became her favorite residence, and she later hosted the marriage of her son, Francis II, to Mary Queen of Scots, here in 1560.

Enjoy ample time to tour the château with your included audio-guide headset. There'll be time, too, to stroll its gardens and topiary maze before picnicking with your travel mates. You may shuttle back to the hotel or continue cycling, perhaps stopping en route to visit Da Vinci's fascinating manor-house and museum of Clos Lucé or Amboise's stunning royal castle.

DAY 7: Vineyards of the Touraine / Tours

After breakfast, you ride on the Loire & Terroir bicycle path, a name that reflects the special soil and local conditions that produce the region's distinct wines on the northern banks of the Loire River. This is France's famed Touraine AOC, the appellation beloved for its dry white wines and red wines made complex by its tannins. Viticulture has been practiced here since at least the Middle Ages, when the Catholic Church maintained vineyards at local monasteries. You cycle through Vouvray, where you may choose to stop for a tasting of its smooth and wonderful renowned white wines.

Arrive in Tours, where you may visit the cathedral or stroll its pedestrian streets and the famous Place Plumereau in the heart of the medieval city. Enjoy lunch on your own here, then continue along La Loire à Velo bike path into Montlouis-sur-Loire. There will be free time to explore this pretty small town before continuing to your hotel for the next two nights, Château de la Bourdaisière. The château is famous for its tomato and dahlia collection, so make sure you explore its magnificent gardens. You may also take advantage of its lovely outdoor swimming pool.

DAY 8: Discover Villandry / Azay-le-Rideau / The Troglodyte Valley of Goupillières

After breakfast, shuttle to the Château de Villandry. Its geometric, terraced gardens are unlike any other in France. The last of the large châteaux built during the Renaissance on the banks of the Loire, it was completed around 1536. Later, cycle on a beautiful bike route along the Loire River and on to Azay-le-Rideau. Here you may wish to explore the delightful historic district and the 16th-century island château, with its foundations emerging directly from the Indre River. You may pause for lunch as you explore.

Continue cycling along the Indre à Vélo bike route through a region that figured prominently in works by Honoré de Balzac, the 19th-century French literary master who called Azay-le-Rideau a “diamond set in the Indre.” Your afternoon route leads you to La Vallée Troglodytique des Goupillières (the Troglodyte Valley of Goupillières). While the aristocracy lived in the Loire’s exquisite riverside castles, a large number of peasants and the working population of the region lived in cave-type dwellings dug out of the region’s tufa limestone. Learn about their lives during a guided visit to these restored dwellings, which were inhabited from the early Middle Ages up until just a century ago. Later, return to the hotel by shuttle.

After breakfast, depart for Paris, stopping en route to explore one of the most visited monuments in France, the Palace of Versailles. Wanting to maintain control over the nobility, Louis XIV had Versailles constructed as his primary residence and as the main seat of the French government. Louis Le Vau was commissioned to transform a royal hunting lodge into the grand palace while landscape artist Le Notre created the gardens from swampland and Mansart masterminded the fountain hydraulics. Versailles served as France’s official royal residence from 1682 until 1790. You’ll tour the vast estate by audio guide, with visits to the state apartments of the king and queen, the Galerie des Glaces (the Hall of Mirrors, where the Treaty of Versailles was signed to end World War I) and the gardens.

Later, rejoin the transportation to our final hotel, located near Charles de Gaulle Airport.

This evening is free. You may wish to dine at your hotel and enjoy its leisure facilities.
