What to Expect

This tour is rated Easy. Road, hybrid and e-bikes are offered. We cycle several sections of La Velodyssee, La Flow Velo and the bike paths on Ile de Re. These bike routes are on paved roads with shoulder or bike lane or on bike paths, sometimes gravel. We do ride over some cobblestone in Rochefort, La Rochelle, and Saint-Martin-de-Re (we recommend you dismount and walk those sections) and we do cross railroad tracks and wood bridges, which can be slippery (dismount and walk your bike is recommended). There are some gently rolling hills on Day 3 AM ride between Saint-Palais-sur-Mer and La Tremblade. Wind can be a factor along the Atlantic ocean.

What to Expect: Take an easy loop ride toward Plage de la Grande Cote and back to your hotel through quiet residential streets. Except for one moderate hill, the route is mostly flat. The mileage is short, but you can extend it if you wish by cycling to La Grande Cote, a beautiful and famous beach, passing seafood cafes and terraces along the way.

DAY 4: Cycle to Meschers-sur-Gironde / Talmont-sur-Gironde

Your morning begins with a spin along La Velodysee, a bike route known for its unspoiled landscapes. Your route follows a coastline called La Cote de Beaute, or beautiful coast. This estuary, where the Gironde river flows into the Atlantic Ocean, is the largest in Europe.

As you enter Royan, you'll see a memorial to the heroes of the Frankton Operation of World War II. In December 1942, an officer of the British Royal Marines and 11 volunteers from this elite corps carried out a commando raid against German ships in Bordeaux, paddling upriver at night from Royan to Bordeaux. Only two survived.

From Royan, you'll follow another scenic coastal route, Canal des 2 Mers, to Meschers-sur-Gironde. Once a sleepy fishing village, Meschers-sur-Gironde is now a pretty resort town set between forest and the sea. Here, you'll have a chance to explore the Caves of Matata—troglodyte caves cut into chalky limestone outcroppings that, through history, have sheltered pirates, plunderers, and Protestant refugees.

From here, you'll pedal along the ocean to Talmont-sur-Gironde, a lovely and well-preserved village founded in 1284. Today, the village is recognized as one of the "Most Beautiful Villages in France." Admire the 12th-century Church of Sainte-Radegonde, whose Romanesque facade defines the skyline, stroll narrow streets lined with charming white houses adorned with roses and hollyhocks. Here, enjoy lunch and a wine tasting at Les Hauts de Talmont, a winery with stunning views of the church.

Afterward, cycle or shuttle back to your hotel, where you can relax at the spa, go swimming in the ocean at a nearby beach, or take a coastal walk into the charming town.

Tonight, stroll to a nearby restaurant for dinner on your own.

This morning, you'll say goodbye to your charming hosts at La Villa Ouest and ride La Velodysee bike route through countryside and thick pine forest and along the Atlantic coast. The oysters and mussels that abound in the waters off this coast are world-renowned for their quality. View marshes and oyster farms as you spin toward La Tremblade and enjoy a lunch on your own showcasing these delicious shellfish.

Next, discover Brouage, where the ramparts of Cardinal Richelieu's citadel still stand, overlooking what once was a thriving harbor. The harbor silted up during the 17th century, however, desolating the village below. Today, it is a peaceful community of villagers cultivating the mussel beds. Brouage is also famous as the birthplace of Samuel de Champlain, the navigator who opened Quebec to settlement by the French.

Later, continue cycling to the Transporter Bridge, built between 1898 and 1900 by French engineer Ferdinand Arnodin or shuttle to the historic town of Rochefort. Founded as a naval base during the 17th century, Rochefort boasts a well-preserved Old Town with narrow streets, museums, galleries, boutiques, parks, and gardens—and the occasional costumed villager. Here, you'll settle into your hotel. As you enjoy dinner at your hotel restaurant, you can gaze at passing boats on the Charente River.

Today's Ride Choices

The ride from Brouage to the Transporter Bridge is on mostly flat rural roads with some gentle hills. Cross the Charente River on the bridge's gondola with your bike and continue riding to your hotel along the marshes and banks of the Charente River.

Located on a small peninsula on the Charente-Maritime coast, Fouras attracts visitors for its beautiful beaches and pretty Belle Epoque villas. Here, you'll find a lovely oceanfront promenade, beaches, a polygonal tower, a covered market, and boutiques. Explore this gem of a town at your leisure and enjoy lunch on your own.

After lunch, cycle back to Rochefort, where you'll enjoy an included visit of Rochefort's most famous ship replica, l'Hermione, which General Lafayette sailed in 1780 to support the American Revolution and which foundered in 1793. The replica was constructed in 1997. If you have time, stop in for an optional visit of La Corderie Royale, a 17th-century royal rope-making factory that was nearly destroyed during World War II. Today, it is a historic monument and International Centre of the Sea.

Dinner is at a local restaurant tonight.

DAY 7: La Rochelle / Guided walking tour / Ile de Re

After breakfast, leave Rochefort on your bicycle through small communes (villages) in the Charente-Maritime region reaching the shores of the Atlantic Ocean and the flora and fauna of the Marais d'Yves Nature Reserve. Pause along the Atlantic Ocean in Les Boucholeurs or Chatellaillon-Plage for lunch on your own.

After lunch, cycle along the ocean to the historic town of La Rochelle. Dating to the 10th century, this magnificent port town welcomes you with two iconic 14th-century towers and a harbor lined with elegant buildings. Today, the harbor serves as the yachting center of France's Atlantic coast. Here, you'll meet a local guide for a walking tour of the town. Take in panoramic views of the sea as you stroll its ancient ramparts, and explore the town's winding cobblestone streets, medieval churches, and shops.

Then, rejoin your trip leaders for a shuttle or ride to Saint-Martin-de-Re, which is notable for its star-shaped, 17th-century ramparts. This UNESCO World Heritage site, whose charming fortifications, half-timbered houses, colorful shutters, historic monuments, and donkeys in trousers are sure to captivate you.

Enjoy a short stroll through the cobbled streets to your hotel, where you may relax or sip a house cocktail. You may also arrange for a spa treatment (advance reservations recommended; contact the hotel directly) or reserve use of the counter-current pool, Jacuzzi, and sauna (service charge applies; 55-minute rental periods). Dinner is on your own tonight in Saint-Martin-de-Ré, where choices abound. Please note: for the June 1-7, 2022 land departure date, we will be using two hotels for your last two nights on the bike tour (La Baronnie Hotel and Spa and Hotel La Jetée). After a leisurely breakfast this morning, set off to explore the island. You'll find that it was made for cycling! The island is flat, and its vineyards, pine forests and, at the more remote west end, oyster beds and salt marshes are crisscrossed with cycle paths that link its 10 small communities.

Start off your island excursion riding along the ocean and through the salt marshes. Pause in Ars-en-Re for lunch in a local cafe. After lunch, continue to the youngest village on the island, Saint-Clement-des-Baleines. Salt, wine, and fishing are the longtime mainstays of the economy here. A cyclist paradise, the bike paths take you past dry stone walls and fields of colorful wildflowers, including hollyhocks – the flower of the island. As you ride you may catch a whiff of sulphur from the salt marshes. Highlights of the island include the 15th-century locks, the local market, and the Phare des Baleines lighthouse, which you are welcome to climb (257 steps) for sweeping Atlantic views. Then, follow the bike path and bike routes back to Saint-Martin. Climb the bell tower of Saint-Martin Church for one last glimpse of this stone star between land and sea, a UNESCO World Heritage site and part of the Network of Major Sites built by Vauban.

Tonight, gather with your travel mates to sip an aperitif as the sun sets behind the horizon. Then, celebrate your journey and share reminiscences over a festive farewell dinner at a local restaurant, La Baleine Bleue.
